EDITOR'S TABLE.

The dispute between Messrs. Eastman and the Commissary-general continues: Sor. Albarracin makes a lame defence, and expresses surprise that the "Tribuna" should publish such a complaint.

There is a rumor current that the French packet will not arrive till Tuesday morning, but we expect her tomorrow.

Mr. Lelong's last letter on Emigration has nothing whatever about emigrants, and however picturesque his tour up the Uruguay, there is nothing to interest the inhabitants of Basses Pyrenées.

Our colleague the 'Pueblo' published a rather alarming notice on Friday evening about a mooted revolution in the interior; we discredit the whole story. In Rosario, owing to the approaching elections for Governor there are signs of a row, but we can find nothing to justify the supposition that any of the Provincial Governments wish to break the Federal bond.

The Rat Island business has caused a great stir in the Government house, as it is feared the Lobos Island will be the next place rented for a naval depot. The Oriental Government, after all, it is believed will put down the Flores revolution, since the Brazilians are hanging back, and the sympathy which was entertained for Flores and his cause is gradually oozing out. The idea that President Aguirre was destitute of resources could only be entertained by those who thought the custom-house building loan could not be effected. Our impression is that when the Government next wants money it will raise it by bond and mortgage on the Island of Lobos. The sooner Flores and his revolution are put down the better for all parties in the River Plate.

Yesterday morning the top of the Mole was crowded. Some went for bathing purposes, but the majority were on the look-out for the Paraguay steamer, which has not yet arrived. As the river Parana is low at present, she may possibly have run aground.

The Paven came in true to her time, bringing files from the interior. We hear nothing more of the gold, only that the last diligence took up a couple of intrepid Britshers, who went determined to explore San Juan. Mr. Perkins' review for the packet, published in English in the 'Cosmopolita,' will be found in another column.

Yesterday was a most unpleasant day in town: first, the dust, then the wind, and then, worse than all, the collections. The collecting clerks were to be pitied: no money any place, and the streets choking, they might well say, "down with the dust," as they went their rounds in the shops of Calles Florida and Victoria.

The Chivilcoy Railway, we are happy to say, is now no longer a scheme: the Legislature has approved of the bill. Proposals, or bids, we suppose, will be called for by Government, and before another six months the earthworks, we hope, will be out to the sea. Few people, save those actually connected with Chivilcoy, can form any idea of the great necessity of a line of railway to this place. We are assured that scarcely a year passes that hundreds of fanegas of maize are not lost for the want of carts to convey it into town. The railway will remedy all this, and the chakra business will probably be double what it is at present after the railway is finished to Chivilcoy.

Yesterday the English Consul's office reminded us of the General Post-office, Dublin. The crowd of British consular letters and newspapers was astonishing. Since our friend left his old quarters in Calle Cuyo we have never gone down to his office on packet day, until yesterday. A wide-awake barber, who lives next door to the consul, and who knows the rules about British postage stamps, is doing rather a good business—he sells stamps on the day of the sailing of the packet at a small premium of three or four paper dollars each.

The Rev. Mr. Dillon, Roman Catholic Curate of Merlo, left yesterday for Montevideo, en route for the Falkland Islands. His mission will last for six weeks on the Islands, when he will return to his parish here, where he is deservedly esteemed and respected.

The bullock carts are now said to be as scarce as the lighters, and several farmers complain that they cannot get their wool in for the want of carts. We are told that over 800 bullock carts are at present standing in the wool plazas and as the buyers are waiting to get the news by the French packet there is very little chance of the carts being disengaged for four or five days. We think from the appearance of the market at present that our friends in the camp ought not to be in too great a hurry to send in their wool, and the last prices this year we think will be better than even the first.

There was a rather exciting scene at the Policia yesterday: a half-naked Argentine was brought in a cart by two policemen. The prisoner manifested the most sovereign contempt for the policemen, and what the Yankees term a "difficulty" evidently occurred in the hall.

We call attention to the grand performance at the Colon Theatre to-night, by the Gibraltar performers, and ballet companies.

Mr. Tennant, one of the engineers on the Southern Railway, was entertained by some of the gentlemen engaged on this line, at the British Hotel, previous to his departure in the packet. Mr. T. was greatly liked and respected by all employed on the line. We wish him a pleasant voyage and a speedy return to the River Plate, where he has a wide circle of friends.

All the ladies in town attend the churches where the Greek clergyman says mass. To-day he officiates in San Miguel's, and to-morrow in the Monjas church of Santa Catalina, San Martin.

The new steamer Estrella del Norte will begin running on the new route from the Tigre to San Pedro about the middle of the week. We expect shortly to see most of our river steamers starting from the Tigre, which affords every convenience for passengers, and has none of the risks and expenses of the inner roads and slippery mole stairs.

Yesterday the absorbing topic through town was the "Rat Island lease." The majority of people view as we do the matter, and think that the Italian cat will make short work of all the River Plate rats. A diplomatic friend assures us that people in Europe looked to President Mitre to put down the Flores revolution, and that they were greatly disappointed when they found out the President of the Argentine republic standing a mute spectator at the ruin which this revolution was effecting in the Banda Oriental. When the Island of Lobos is leased out we will acquaint our readers. The Monroe doctrine in the River Plate is in truth a dead letter.

Our communications with Montevideo, thanks to the blockade in the Uruguay, promise to be more regular now. The Rio del Plata we hear will not go up the river Uruguay again, the Uruguay the same, and the Teveré is now in good order and repair, and will run between this port and Montevideo, as formerly, so we shall have no scarcity of steamers for a while at least.

THE COMING ELECTIONS.

The signal has been given: "to arms, for the March elections." A new paper is shortly to appear, for the avowed purpose of inflaming party spirit to the highest pitch, and carrying everything by fire and sword. Already the rival politicians, who have been so long in a state of chrysalis, prepare to make their appearance in the butterfly hues of Crudos and Cocidos.

Men of noisy patriotism, youths whose talent almost reaches mediocrity, paupers who hunger for the crumbs of office, and ruffians who can cloak any crime under the garb of faction—all these will have their Carnival; and honest citizens, however unwilling to take part in the game, must patiently endure the nuisance, because the Constitution has fixed this period for the expatriation of political gases.

Progress in these countries is the work of Sisyphus, so long as we are subjected to these periodical earthquakes of society. In vain for a whole year we labor to push forward the Republic, in vain we mount upward with the banner of Excelsior—we are again thrust down, and find the labour of last year must be again begun. While British colonies, with only half our advantages, steadily push forward in the enjoyment of perfect liberty and good repute of mankind, the Republic of La Plata is condemned to march as the galley-slave, with the cannon-ball of election-riots fastened to its feet.

The disorder and bloodshed of last February are still before our eyes, and we had almost promised ourselves a truce to these Dahomey customs of republican life, when the accursed tocsin of elections again comes to disturb our quiet. Gracious heavens! is there no remedy, or must we be for ever in the ferment of a city delivered up to rowdies who gamble with public affairs, pistol in hand, ready to slaughter a rival gamester or innocent spectator?

Only a few days ago the town of San Nicolas was converted into a pandemonium, rival newspapers were successfully started to set the inhabitants crazy; decency was outraged by the most infamous placards, and the fellows who pulled the strings chuckled over their diabolical work.

The thriving city of Rosario is at present blighted with the same curse: not even the great railway, nor the growing prosperity of the place, nor the wonderful increase of landed value, nor the emigration projects, can call off the people's minds from the bullfight of club politics.

It would seem that there is a curse in Republican elections. This was the cause of the present awful war in the United States, and this has been the pretext for every quarrel in South America from the era of Independence down to the Flores revolution of 1863. But the coming elections of March 1865 may be expected to prove more riotous than even the last, as the election of a successor to Governor Saavedra depends on the result.

The rival clubs will meet and pronounce harangues on the utility of revolvers, and treachery of the opponents. Life in B. Ayres will be anything but comfortable for some time before the grand denouement, and when the day of polling arrives, the electoral table will be smashed at the church doors and the farce of Universal Suffrage will be enacted with accessories worthy of a pack of intoxicated Indians.

In the camp the evil will be much greater even than in town, and for several months before-hand the emissaries of both lists will go about, fooling and caressing the ignorant gauchos, inciting them to set law at defiance, sanctifying every outrage as merely the affect of party-zeal, and making tools of these semi-barbarous citizens to suit their ends.

Suppose two murders are committed: one of the assassins is shielded by the faction to which belongs the Juez de Paz and the latter if even a virtuous magistrate is unable to punish the crime. The other assassin belongs to an opposite faction; and if the Juez dare send him to prison, it is said to be a piece of political vengeance, and heaven and earth are up-turned until the murderer be released, as a victim and martyr. In this manner the co-religionists of the authorities are taught that they may practise every crime with impunity; and those of the contrary faction are incited to despise the law and insult its officers, since all are alike citizens, and any man who says otherwise is a mazorquero.

The 'Standard' has been sometimes upbraided with holding up abuses, without indicating a remedy, and this difficulty would seem now to occur, since we can neither hope that elections will be abolished, nor this method of Government reformed before March 1865.

But as foul wells only require ventilation to be rendered wholesome, it often occurs with abuses that they only require to be fearlessly and truthfully depicted, for correction. Argentines have many excellent points of character, and one of these is a jealous susceptibility of what people abroad think of them. If we could touch their sense of self-respect, we would remind them that the portrait we have sketched of elections is true to life, and calculated to earn the actors in such scenes the name of Hottentots.

We do not address ourself to the four classes above-named, who must have their annual Carnival, but to the sober, respectable native gentlemen, hoping they will leave the bacchanalians of the church-doors to be dealt with by the authorities, and that the latter will not allow the tranquillity of the city to be disturbed by club orgies, incendiary scribbles, or rampant "patriots."

NEW INDIAN BRIGADE.

In consequence of the repeated invasions of the savages, and the great noise made in the newspapers, President Mitre has sent his brother up the country to sweep the frontier, and in order to prevent the Indians, when his back might be turned, from again making such inroads, he takes up with him a young man, the most active, energetic, and capable in the River Plate, Captain Lucio V. Mansilla, who, we are happy to hear, has been promoted to the rank of Major.

Major Mansilla purposes organizing an Indian brigade, or frontier regiment. For once, we think the President has got the right man in the right place; and, we cannot help remarking, that for a military man the frontier service offers a wider field for making a name and fame, than the green-room of the Victoria Theatre, or the new saloons of the 'Circulo Literario.'

Sir Robert Kane made his fortune by writing a book on the industrial resources of Ireland; but if Major Mansilla, who has a decided literary talent, instead of composing 'another 'Atar Gull,' occupies himself with giving the public an insight into the unknown country which he visits, and writes a book on the industrial resources of this young nation, he will rival the reputation of even Sir Robert himself. We salute Major Mansilla on his promotion, and wish him a pleasant trip amongst the Indians. If he frightens them off, and keeps the mail-coach road open to the public, he will realize the expectations which an impartial public have long since entertained of him.

EL GRILLO.

We have received the 2nd number of this satirical publication. There is little worthy the term 'jocoso' in its articles which are awfully insipid and the editors have evidently mistaken Patagonian for Attic salt. There are six caricatures, but all very difficult to comprehend, except the likeness of President Mitre which is indeed very perfect.

NEWS FROM THE PROVINCES.

ROSARIO.

We have the "Cosmopolita," "Ferro-Carril" and "Rosario" to Friday morning. Letters from Santa Fé state that Dr. Rawson has not obviated the difficulty about public lands ceded to the Central Railway, as these are the only guarantee for the Provincial Debt, and holders of Treasury-bills must lose heavily by the cession of these lands. Sor. Oroño lent Dr. Rawson valuable aid in the Matter.

Rosario has been visited with a deluge of rain, and the project of pavement occupies attention. Mme. Mollo's opera performance was postponed on Thursday owing to the weather.

An awful riot occurred on the night of the 19th, at the Cafe Argentina, where the Club Libertad were assembled. Two bands of the Club Pueblo attacked the place, and revolvers were freely used, several persons being wounded. It is thought that the outrage was in retaliation for the attempted murder of Major Rodriguez same night at the Cafe Jigena.

The Oroño celebration came off at San Lorenzo on Saturday and Sunday: there was a grand ball and dinner, Mr. and Mrs. Ferreyra doing the honors. There is a general demand in Rosario for the retirement of General Gelly from the War-office.

Party-spirit is so rife that we hear nothing about the railway or land fever. As an excess of politeness we remark a notice by a gentleman, "that if the person who attempted to stab him last night will call for the dagger of which he (the aggressor) was disarmed, he may have it."

We have seen a private letter from one of the engineers stating that 12 kilometres (7 miles) of the line are ready for traffic.

THE SAN JOSE COLONY.

The statistical return of December 31st, 1863 shows the following figures of this flourishing Entre-Rian colony, under the protection of General Urquiza. Population 2211; in 380 families, of which 190 are Swiss, 125 French Savoyards, 54 Italians and 11 Germans. Births during the year, 113; deaths 33, marriages 11, showing an increase of 80 souls, or nearly 4 per cent. They comprise 67 tradesmen, and 22 houses of business, with 257 dwelling-houses, valued at $128,500 silver. The stock of the colony consists of 6854 horned cattle, 1140 horses, 21,478 hens, 629 pigs, 170 bee-hives; the crops are 864 bushels corn and barley (sown), 12,269 bushels Indian corn (reaped), 112,000 trees planted, and 1600 cuadras or 500 acres under cultivation, which is exactly half the total area. There are also small plantations of vegetables, tobacco and mulberry (tartago), and silk-worms are much attended to. An immense quantity of butter, eggs, and poultry is annually produced for the markets of Concepcion, Paysandú, and Buenos Ayres.—Cosmopolita.

STATE OF THE PROVINCES.

(From the Cosmopolita of Rosario.)

Although we have no very important items of intelligence to communicate in our review for the last fortnight, yet in a country like this, just emerging, as it were, from turbid waters into a peaceful and prosperous existence, there is never any lack of materials to make up a review that will always be readable to those who interest themselves in the progress of this immense and richly-dowered country.

The Argentine family is becoming compact, the General Government respected by the subordinate ones, and the advantage of a unity of interests becoming every day more prominent and acceptable to the understandings of the people.

Railways and good roads, and river navigation and excellent postal communication are slowly but surely doing away with the elements of barbarity that, issued from the Pandora's box inherited by the Southern Republics from the first conquerors of the country.

The principal subject of talk lately has been the gold mines recently discovered in San Juan. The importance of these mines has been somewhat exaggerated by the press in Buenos Ayres, on the principle that such kind of news, like a ball of snow, loses nothing by rolling. The facts are that a very rich mine of gold has been discovered in the mines of San Juan, but as to their extent nothing is as yet known, nor can be until further exploration takes place. The vein is of the same character as those of the silver mines so abundant in that region, and requires labor and capital to work it. The metal already taken out is of an extraordinary richness. Gold has been collected in considerable abundance in San Juan by the old Spaniards and by the Indians, but the tradition goes that the 'placers' were overwhelmed by the effects of an earthquake. It is however by no means improbable that 'placers' may yet be found there rich enough to draw to that region a large mining population.

The state of the country in a political sense, is very satisfactory. A profound peace reigns in every province; not a peace based on the volcano of arbitrary force and fear, as has been the case within a few years back, but founded on a radical change in the habits and way of thinking of the people. The country is suffering from want of capital and of a working population, but these are evils that a prolonged peace, railways and immigration will soon cause to disappear.

The Great Central Railroad is progressing rapidly. Eight miles are already finished and the track laid. This railway will be probably the most important work in its results to the country, and the profits it will give to the shareholders, that has been projected in the world. The scarcity of vessels in Europe has fettered the works to a small extent however, and we could wish to see more activity displayed by the Company in London. Only some half-a-dozen have arrived here as yet, although we understand there are ten or twelve on their way. Mr. Wheelwright however is pushing on the works with the greatest activity, but our natural impatience to witness the conclusion of a road that certainly will be the fountain of a great prosperity to the country, makes us, perhaps, over-exacting.

We are sorry that our review has to notice the fact of depredations of a serious nature having been committed by the Indian tribes of the Pampas, aided by a contingent from the neighboring Republic of Chile. The Southern frontier of Cordoba was the scene of their operations, and they have carried off a considerable number of cattle. The troops on the frontier are moving to intercept them, and will probably get back the cattle. This incident, bad enough as it is, has been grossly exaggerated by the press of the capital. The whole province of Santa Fé is very well guarded on its frontiers, and none of the savages approaches these.

The season has been so favorable that the whole province of Santa Fé looks like one great garden. The crops are so luxuriant that fears are entertained that the wheat stalks will not support their burden.

The clip of wool is excellent, and the weather has been so favorable that the fleeces are very heavy and clean. The quality has been improved greatly, and we have now wool of a quality equal to the best produced from the same sheep in the Banda Oriental. This year has proved that this province is equal if not superior to the best sheep-lands in the River Plate.

Our space will only allow us to mention that the Provincial Legislature has closed its sessions after passing the bill for lighting Rosario with gas.

That the fish-oil establishment in Sante Fé is becoming very important, and that it has been discovered that the oil is a great specific for the cure of diseases in animals, particularly in sheep.

That the Spanish Life Insurance Companies are doing a large business, and that a National Company, founded on the funded debt, has been established.

That the question of the concessions of lands in this province to the Railroad Company, has been satisfactorily arranged between the Provincial and National Governments.

That a Mr. Forrest has succeeded in establishing a Cotton plantation in Paraná, and has four hundred acres under cotton.

And that, at the commencement of the year, will appear an important periodical printed in English, dedicated to immigration and to the general interests of the country, and edited by our capable friend, Mr. Hutchinson, English Consul. The name of the periodical is to be "The Argentine Citizen." We shall close our review with a very significant fact as demonstrating together with the fact just stated of the establishment of an English paper, that the foreign English element is increasing very considerably in this province. We publish a fortnightly review in the 'Cosmopolita.' By each steamer we have to make our edition some fifty or sixty numbers larger to meet the demand for papers to send to Europe. This demand is increasing every month, while a little twelvemonth ago it was entirely useless to print a single word in English.

The 'Cosmopolita' sends by this packet upwards of sixty numbers to different parts of Europe, but more particularly to England and Ireland, while at the same time our circulation is increasing rapidly in all parts of this country.—Cosmopolita, Nov. 25, '64.

MONTEVIDEO.

The 'Reforma' and 'Plata' to the 25th inst. are almost devoid of news. A court-martial for sedition has been held on the following persons: Agustín Veron, coachman; Edwige Fernandez, sergeant, and Agustín Vianna, private, of the 2nd batt. The President was General Ignacio Oribe, who, after reading of process, evidence and prisoners, defence, passed sentence, but this has not been made public, pending approval of Government. Colonel Anacleto Olivera has been appointed commander of Canelones. General Viasoro (brother to the late Governor of San Juan, and now in the M. Vidéan service) is said to have left Concepcion for Paraguay, overland.

Under date 23rd inst. the Government has created a new tax of 40 cents (21 pence) per head on all horned cattle killed for city consumption or in saladeros: the cause alleged is the low state of the exchequer owing to the war, and the tax is to cease when order shall be restored.

A child was poisoned last week from eating a piece of bread which had arsenic, being intended for rat-poison. The plan designed by M. Victor Rabit for the new Bolsa has been accepted by the board, and the works will soon be begun.

H.B.M. ship Alcega sailed for England on Wednesday, to be paid off. We have not heard how Captain Blake settled his difficulties with the Brazilian authorities. The war-steamer Satellite left next day for the Falkland Islands. The French packet is expected to arrive to-day (Sunday), and will leave for Buenos Ayres this evening.

D. Pedro Rivero is named Gefé at Paysandú. It is said Walter and Ighini are going to sing at the Solis Theatre. It has rained a good deal during last week.

The city mortality on Wednesday numbered five persons, including a Spaniard named Zuloaga, who was married to a Miss Miller.

The new French paper, "Verité," is announced to appear, edited by M. François Lafon, merchant tailor: as the new editor is expert at the scissors, we hope he will suit, but he must be careful about cutting up the Government, or he may be provided with a straight-jacket.

THE LIVERPOOL AND RIVER PLATE LINERS.

LAUNCH OF THE "ROSARIO."

After the lapse of a few months the citizens of Waterford have again witnessed the launch of another splendid iron steamship from the Neptune Iron Works. Scarcely had the Iowa left our harbour, when another vessel was ready for the firm of Malcomson Brothers. Through the gloom which broods over our depressed country, a ray of light pierces this part of the south of Ireland; and in Carrick, Portlaw, and Waterford, Mr. Malcomson employs hundreds of busy workers, who labor cheerfully, and earn a fair competence. Amid the general stagnation of trade, and lack of employment, it is very pleasant to hear the almost unceasing sound of the hammer in the Neptune Iron Works, which is presided over by Mr. Horne, the respected manager. Scarcely has one ship been launched when another is laid down and rapidly assumes the fair and graceful proportions of a splendid ship.

At five o'clock, on Saturday, the gates of the Neptune yard were thrown open to visitors, and the utmost courtesy was shown to all by Mr. Horne and his son, who, whilst superintending every operation, were ever ready to afford every information. In a short time the yard was filled with ladies and gentlemen, who expressed much admiration at the graceful yet firm proportions of the fine vessel, which although not so large as the "Iowa," is yet of huge bulk.—She lay on her cradle, a splendid specimen of native skill and industry, and whilst the men were as busy ants, and the officials were of course anxious, the crowd were no less anxious to see her successfully launched on her native element. The Park was thronged with people, and the picturesque rock at the other side, overhung with foliage, presented a gay and variegated appearance—in fact, it appeared like a parterre of flowers, as every available spot was occupied by ladies and gentlemen, the bright colours of the dresses of the former, affording a pleasing contrast to the more sombre hues of those of the latter. The day was beautifully fine, and the lovely scenery at the opposite side—a scenery unsurpassed in Ireland if not for sublimity, at least for beauty, the verdant and gently swelling hills, covered with trees in the rich foliage of June, were dotted with people, who either sunbathed about those spots where Titania would love to dance, and Puck would delight to gambol. The Iron Works are situated in the best part of our noble river, which is here considerably wider than in any other part, and allows a vessel sufficient room when launched.

Shortly after half-past five o'clock the men, singing lustily and pulling the ropes with a will, began to remove the stocks amid breathless suspense, and as prop after prop was taken away, the most profound silence was maintained by the large concourse of people present. Mr. Horne had, with laudable foresight, placed barriers in front of the ship with a caution to visitors not to go inside, lest they might incur danger. This was necessary, from the number of ropes which were attached to the vessel. As the last stock was removed, one of the men on board cut away the rope attached to the stern and then a shout arose, "She moves, she moves." The noble vessel glided slowly and gracefully down the cradle, and then as the men cut away the remaining ropes, more rapidly, till with a gentle plunge she entered the water, and sped rapidly into the centre of the stream. As she moved from her cradle, the men on deck cheered lustily, which was heartily responded by those on shore; hats and handkerchiefs were waved, and the utmost enthusiasm prevailed for some minutes. From the great momentum of the vessel, it was feared that the anchors from her bows would give way, as they were observed to drag a little, in which case she must have been precipitated against the opposite shore. The anchors, however, held firm, and the ship's bows were brought round when she gained the middle of the stream. And now she is fairly in her native element, and every one present felt the highest admiration of her huge yet graceful proportions and fine lines. This is indeed a noble specimen of naval architecture, and reflects the highest credit on Mr. Horne. As she was brought round to the pier, she obeyed her helm yell, and walked the waters like a thing instinct with life. The men on board and those in the yard cheered again and again, and Capt. Bartlett, who was in command, performed his duty admirably, and with his usual ability.

Mrs. Robert Malcomson gracefully performed the ceremony of "christening," and called the good ship "Rosario." This very fine ship is 260 feet long, and her breadth is 31 feet. The depth of hold is 26 feet. She has a flush spar deck by which a large number of troops can be accommodated, and she is 2,500 tons burden. Her deck is iron, as is indeed everything belonging to her. She will be ship-rigged. Her engines will be amidships, with a new arrangement of expansion gear on the most approved principle of modern science, and with Horne's patent condenser, which is now highly approved of. The ship is fitted with steam cranes and steam winches on board, which will be a great saving of time and labour to the crew in loading and unloading: in fact she is fitted up with all modern appliances for working a cargo, regardless of expense. She is very strongly and gracefully built, which is a characteristic of all Mr. Horne's ships, and we trust she will be as successful as the other vessels built by that gentleman.

We must congratulate Mr. Horne on the invariable success which attends his launch, and the Messrs. Malcomson on being the possessors of so fine a vessel, and we trust they will long continue to seek to develop the trade of the country, and to afford that employment which is so much needed.

TRAVELLING IN THE PROVINCES.

The "Cosmopolita" of Rosario gives a gloomy account of the difficulties incidental to mail-coach travelling from that city to the interior, fully bearing out the statements of our friend "Erin" in this particular.

The following postal returns contain a strong censure to the National Government:—

Cordoba Route.
Tres Cruces post	Indians.
Sanjon do	Indians.
Barrancas do	Indians.
Herraduras do	No horses.
Tio Pujio do	No horses.
Cañares do	No horses.

Mendoza Route.
Rio Quinto post	No horses.
Rio Cuarto do	Indians.
Carraballo do	No horses.
Tres Cruces do	Indians.
Sanjon do	Indians.
Barrancas do	Indians.
Ojo del Agua do	Indians.

The post roads from Cordoba northwards, as far as Las Palmas, are very badly served. Nevertheless, the Mensajeros Nacionales spare no pains to arrive at the regular days, and only during the recent Indian invasions the Mendoza coach was delayed three days, and the San Juan one day.

Apropos, seeing that Indians are more plentiful than horses at the post-stations along the roads, it might be a good idea to substitute the latter for the former, to convey the diligences, and as the Indians are always well-mounted, the service would be most effective. Gov. Lagranga, of Corrientes, has these red-skinned Mercuries regularly carrying the mails through the Gran Chaco, and why not adopt the same plan in the Pampas? Passengers at first might feel a little nervous, but that would wear off. At any rate, the present system might be improved, for Indians have a monopoly of facilities for travelling to the great inconvenience of their brethren.

THE ESSEX AFFAIR.

To the Editors of the "Standard."

Gentlemen,
Your correspondent, "H. R. H.," is so thoroughly imbued with the spirit of his countrymen, and so dreadfully jealous of the national honor, that the late communication to the "Standard," upon the point in question, in which it was shown, by impartial testimony, how utterly the story has been perverted by American writers, has only roused him to maintain more firmly his previous assertions. Now, without questioning Mr. Dana's merit for general veracity, it is injudicious to think that either he or any half dozen writers of either of the parties interested, whether English or Americans, can view the affair with the calm reflection of a neutral, and, so to speak, impartial spectator. Your honorable correspondent has not been pleased to declare who his other two testimonies are: however, if the authors here appealed to be Americans, we will excuse him the unnecessary trouble of citing them, for as a late number of the "Toronto Globe" remarks, it is useless for the English to expect justice from the hands of American writers, who, for the want of antecedents, or from national vanity, have filled their works with impossible victories, and have made out of the few skirmishes that occurred during the War of Independence, stupendous battles.

But to conclude, supposing the matter stood as your honorable correspondent would have it, are the Americans justified thereby? Can a criminal vindicate himself by precedent? "H. R. H." cannot possibly maintain a doctrine that in its consequences would be the ruin of society.
Your obedient servant, D. L.

IMPORTANT SALE BY B. BALCARCE & CO.

The important auction of two beautiful pieces of land, at the port of San Fernando, will take place to-day. They are in an excellent locality in front of the canal. Commercial gentlemen would do well to inspect them, as they cannot be better situated for business, especially that joining Sor. Marana.

Patacons were much firmer to-day than what many people expected; in fact, amongst the "haut-ton" on Change a fall was anticipated, but the market could not be firmer. Some said that it was the non-arrival of the Paraguay steamer, others speculation, others a secret demand for shipment; but although each one had his own idea of the cause, all agreed as to the effect specie was not only firm, but tight.
The Rat Island lease was talked of, and, strange to say, every one concurred with us in our view of the matter. National Bonds are very weak, and as collateral security, can only be said to be worth 30 per cent. In the Plaza there is very little doing, money is so scarce, and owing to some unlooked-for difficulties about passing Exchange, some buyers are compelled to limit their purchases.

SAVINGS BANK.

BANK MAU & CO.

No. 103 Calle de Cangallo,
BUENOS AYRES.

The immense advantages of Accounts Current are now so generally felt and appreciated in the few great emporiums of the River Plate, Montevideo and Buenos Ayres, that there are very few Merchants who fail to keep one at the bank in which they place the most confidence. The Bank of Mau & Co. in Montevideo has already provided for the working classes in that city a safe and profitable depository for their savings.
The sums deposited in that most important institution are daily increasing, and already reach a very large amount.

These advantages have not hitherto been enjoyed in this city by an immense number of clerks, artisans, working men, and servants of all classes and conditions, who are equally interested in putting their savings out at interest, thus providing themselves with a reserve fund in case of need, sickness, or old age, instead of spending them in the immoral gambling, in lotteries, and other frivolities.

The Bank of Mau & Co. of this city, following the noble example of their firm in Montevideo, now offer the same facilities in this city, and will open a Savings Bank at No. 103 Calle Cangallo, from Nine a.m. till Three p.m. on Week Days, and on Sundays and Holidays from Ten a.m. to Twelve m., for the reception of the savings of the classes already mentioned.

The Bank will deliver to each depositor a pass book, in which will be entered the amount deposited and withdrawn.

The depositor is permitted at any time to withdraw the whole or part of the sum deposited; in the former case the interest will be calculated up to date.

The Bank of Mau & Co. is sufficiently known to the Public by the benefit derived from the course of its operations, which are regulated on the strictest and soundest principles, and always directed to promote the general welfare.

The Bank of Mau & Co. are also persuaded that this new branch of their business will render immense service to the working classes of Buenos Ayres and its neighbourhood.
Buenos Ayres, September 13, 1863.

CONDITIONS.
First—The Bank receives at interest any sum from Twenty-five Dollars currency Silver Dollar upwards.
Second—The interest allowed is six per cent. (6 p) per annum, which is liquidated every six months.
Third—The depositors can at any time retire the whole or part of the money deposited.
Fourth—Once the money deposited exceeds twenty-five thousand dollars currency, or one thousand dollars silver, the depositor, if he wishes, can open an account current, according to the rules established by the Bank.
Fifth—In case the depositor loses his pass book, it can be replaced by another on paying twelve dollars currency, and advertising the loss in the public newspapers.
